IMPORTANT ROAD WORK COMPLETED

State Finished Improvements of Highways in Monongahela Valley District

Much road work has either been completed or will shortly be completed in this part of the Monongahela valley.

Among the highways completed is that from Charleroi to Speers. The brick road constructed by the state has been opened to public traffic within the last few days. It makes a fine driveway. At Speers the contract for a brick street from the river bridge to the new state road has just been awarded.

Between Fayette City and Brownsville an important piece of road is being built. The state will have completed soon 1,354 feet of brick road immediately above Fayette City and connecting with the paved streets of that place. John Gray of Charleroi is the inspector. It is said the road will be opened to traffic within a week or ten days.

Up the river above that point the state is building fully one and one-half miles of waterbound macadam, which will complete improved roads practically to Brownsville.

COACH NEILL IS NOT YET DISCOURAGED

The Waynesburg college squad was given a rest Monday but practice was resumed Wednesday. Coach Neill was not discouraged by the work of the team on Saturday against Carnegie Tech. The team had been together but one week and he was not expcting them to show very strong. There is no game for this week and before the next contest which is with Thiel, the coaches expect to have a good team to go into the game. Coach Neill said that Carnegie Tech had a strong team this year and that it was in good condition and outclassed the Weynesburg boys in every department simply because the boys had not had the practice.

DUCKS AND MOSQUITOES

The mosquito in addition to being a pest which often turns beautiful rural districts into infernos during the summer and fall has been convicted of being the means of transmitting both yellow fever and malaria. Sanitarians demand its extermination. Dr. Samuel G. Dixon, Commissioner of Health has been making some interesting experiments using ducks for this purpose. The results are published in the last issue of the Journal of the American Medical Association. Dr. Dixon says:

"The duck has such a wide geographical range that it is well known from the Artic to the Antarctic circles. The naturalists describe about two hundred varieties. They migrate long distances. Many wild ducks breed in Alaska in the summer and in the fall migrate to the southern United States and northern South America. The epicure recognizes duck meat as delicious and the weary traveler testifies to the softness of the feather pillows made of their plumage.

Some of the new domestic varieties are now recognized as great egg producers and those who have eaten the eggs say they are as delicious as those of the chicken.

Most farmers have a flock of domestic ducks and yet notwithstanding the bird is well known for many good qualities its great economic value as larvae and paupae has been sadly overlooked. Ever since the great warfare has been carried on against the mosquito to overcome yellow fever and malaria the scientific world has not awakened up to the value of the bird for that purpose.

"For several years I have succeeded in using Mallard ducks to keep down mosquito life in a swamp that would be very expensive to drain. Recently I built two dams near together on the same stream and stocked one with carnivorous fish and surrounded it with wire netting to prevent the access of other life. I left the other open for the use of about twenty ducks, with the result that the first one was soon swarming with mosquito life whereas the ducks had prevented them from breeding in the pond to which they had access. This was of course brought about by their devouring the mosquito larvae, which seem to be a delicious morsel for them and to some extent by their keeping the water in motion for a number of hours each day.

"After the fish failed to devour the larvae and paupae ten ducks were turned into this enclosed pond and in twenty-four hours no paupae could be found and in forty-eight hours mosquito life was practically exhausted.

"The presence of these birds will often act as a substitute for the oiling of swamps and stocking of ponds with fish, thereby saving the expenditure of large sums of money.

"The moral of this is that farmers or those living in the suburbs of cities where there are undrained districts or still ponds should keep ducks, for not alone while they be profitable for the market but will keep down the mosquito life as well."

VICTORY IN THE AIR

Republican victory is in the air. The voters of Pennsylvania have determined to return to power at the earliest possible time the party of Progress, Protection and Prosperity, and there is no stopping the voters when they finally make up their minds.

While the state campaign has now gotten rightly started the tariff has become the paramount issue in the contest. The Democratic candidates in the state have deemed it wise to sidestep the important issue and have been devoting their energies and efforts to a shameful assault upon the Republican candidates, but the Democrats have not been advancing in the public estimation. Just as sure as fate they are going backward. They have made themselves ridiculous by evading the material issue.

Senator Boise Penrose, candidate for United States Senator; Dr. Martin Brumbaugh, the noted educator and candidate for governor, and their colleagues have been meeting the Democratic assaults with courage and candor and have been enjoying encouragement and enthusiasm at every turn in their campaign.

The recent deal made between Boss Flinn, the notorious municipal contractor of Pittsburg, and the Democratic leaders for a fusion ticket has fallen flat. Boss Flinn found it easy to force Dean Lewis off the bull moose ticket, but the Democrats were afraid to carry out their part of the bargain by withdrawing A. Mitchell Palmer from the Democratic ticket, so that the bull moosers have been caught amid stream with only half a ticket and that half a resident of the state of New York.

Other efforts at trading and trafficking between the Democrats and bull moosers have availed nothing whatever and the party of free trade, no work and reduced pay finds itself well into the campaign without an issue other than a greed for places.

As a result Republican victory is in the air. The success of Republican candidates in the state is assured and the Republican party workers are confident and anxious for the coming election.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

Though in a rival league that is directing hard blows at the National and American, Bill Phillips, of Charleroi, is taking a keen interest in the forthcoming world's series between Boston and Philadelphia. In the Indianapolis News, he indulges in the following prophecy:

Since picking the winner in a contest of any sort is not exactly in my line, it is not without a degree of diffidence that I venture the opinion that Connie Mack and his Philadelphia Athletics will be returned the winner of the impending world series. Sentimental reasons would lead me to hand the plum to the Boston Braves since nine of the best seasons of my twenty-eight years in baseball were spent in the interest of the National League. But sentiment is forced into the background when calculations and cool judgment are called into play and these, to my mind, make the Mackmen favorites.

One thing is certain the Braves will meet the best club they have been pitted against this year when they line up against the men under Mack. They will find themselves up against real inside baseball, a commodity, the supply of which is apaprently exhaused in certain clubs of the parent organization. No such helter-skelter exhibitions such as marked the play of several clubs over whom they triumphed on their march to the pennant may be expected. The Athletics have learned their game in a school. A heavy hitting aggregation that is versatile enough to shift its style and a team that has learned the lesson of team play—that's the Philadelphia club. That's why it will be hard to beat. Stallings and his men may be able to put up the same kind of game but as yet they have to prove their mettle under fire.

On form the Mackmen seem stronger in batting, base running, fielding and experience. Whether Tyler, James and Rudolph, Boston's star pitchers, can offset the known effectiveness of Bender, Plank, Shawkey, Pennock and Bush is a question that will have to be answered on the field. Viewing the impending struggle from afar, I would give Boston a slight edge in pitching, which to my mind is rather a concession when one remembers the cool, calculating, stoical Bender and the firm, lion-hearted Plank, who have just rounded out one of the most successful seasons of their careers.

Much of the attack and most of the defense of the series is expected to lie with the infields. Here, to my way of thinking, is where the Mackmen will have the big advantage. It is not taking snap judgment to say that McInnis, Collins, Barry and Baker seem to stand well above Schmidt, Evers, Maranville and Smith in ability and effectiveness.

While the Braves to my mind have something more than an outside chance to win, it is a good bet that old reliable Connie Mack who was my first battery mate at Washington, way back in 1888 will again pilot the Athletics to another championship.

Health First

In buying food articles we must consider several things—economy, results, convenience, reliability; but the most important is Health.

Health means everything. If one gets cheated in buying dresses, shoes or bonnets it is provoking, but the harm is chiefly loss of money. In buying food articles, if imitations or poor stuffs are supplied, there is a loss of money and probably an injury to health also; and good health is beyond price.

Remember these facts when buying baking powder.

Rough Serenade.

Mr. and Mrs. George Watson, who have been married but a short time were surprised Monday evening by a number of the town's young men. The young men armed themseleves with a number of ear-splitting devices and proceeded to serenade the Watsons. The Watsons had been residing at their present residence for more than a month and the serenade was a little late. The serenaders were rather rough, breaking the lattice around the porch, caving in a portion of the porch floor, and upsetting furniture in the interior by means of long poles pushed through an open window. The Watsons had been sernaded previous to this and did not respond to the boisterous demands for tribute.

He reports that he is pleased with the auspicious beginning made by several of the young teachers. He atributes their success in a great measure to suggestions given out at the school of methods held just before the opening of the school term. The superintendent is devoting his entire time, while visiting schools at present, to teachers who are in charge of their first school. While many school directors in districts visited by the superintendent take pride in beautifying houses and grounds, the proverbial "unsightly ash pile" is in evidence in a few instances, and it is noted that cobwebs adorn frescoed walls in some districts. In one instance the superintendent noticed that a school yard was covered with weeds from two to three feet high, with two or three narrow paths made by the pupils and teacher in going to and from the school building. The law requires school directors to clear off school grounds and use sanitary measures about the school buildings, but in many cases the law is not complied with properly.

Save the Dog.

The Oregon state board of health bulletin says wisely with reference to mad dogs "never kill the animal that bit you, save it with the greatest care," for the condition that dog develops is of the greatest consequence to the person bitten. If the dog is killed, the negri bodies, which are of importance in the diagnosis, may not be developed and no one will ever know whether the dog was or was not rabid. But if the dog is saved he will himself within a week or ten days show whether or not be is rabid. If he proves himself clear of rabies the man bitten need give the matter no further consideration from that side, and if it prove that he be rabid, there is still plenty of time for the man to take the proper remedies. If a dog bites you, save the dog

Hadn't Seen Them.

A correspondent from Cheshire, England, says: "I came upon a small boy not long ago who was moodily fishing with an improvised rod and hook in the muddy waters of the canal. I cannot but believe that he will make a great fisherman some day, for he seemed to have the dogged perseverance necessary for the craft. But he was clearly far from happy. He paid no attention to me at all but mournfully pursued the matter in hand. 'What are you doing?' I asked him at last, 'Fishing for snigs?' 'I don't know,' he replied, drearily, 'I've never caught any yet.'"

DAM DRAINED FOR WATER TO OPERATE MINE

Strenuous and novel methods had to be adopted to furnish water with which to operate the engines at the mines of the Pittsburg-Buffalo Coal company at Marianna for several days were in imminent danger of being closed down because of the drought.

Ten Mile creek that in years heretofore has always furnished an abundance of water is practically dry. So that what water was distributed along its bed would drain down the valley to Marianna, gangs were sent several miles up the stream digging new channels. Even this did not supply the demand.

On last Friday the company secured the consent of the owners of Chambers Dam to drain it and its contents came surging down the valley and brought relief to Marianna, the mines having been able to operate since.

As the water came surging down the stream running at times almost bank full, residents were surprised and could not imagine from whence the seeming deluge had come.

SUPREME COURT SAYS TITLOW IS IN RIGHT

George F. Titlow, of Uniontown, by a decision handed down by the Pennsylvania Supreme Court in Pittsburg Monday, secured a verdict in his suit against the Reliance Life Insurance company. Mr. Titlow as a result of the verdict will secure $8,500. The suit against the company was tried in Fayette county before Judge R. E. Umbel, the court at the time finding in Mr. Titlow's favor. The case was carried to the higher court by the insurance company. The suit grew out of the refusal of the insurance company to reinstate Mr. Titlow after he had become delinquent on the payment of premiums.

WAR NOTES

Paris, Oct. 7—The Germans are attempting to cut off the left wing of the army of General D'Amade and surround it. Large masses of German cavalry are reported by aviators to be in the vicinity of Lille, which is said to be screening a large force of infantry moving through the region of the line from Turcoing, 10 miles northwest of Lillie to Amentieres, 25 miles to the westward of Lillie. This body of reinforcements block the French from a dash for Belgium and threaten the allies lines of communication with the coast. The Germans evidently are hoping to drive a wedge through the French line. The Germans are said to be withdrawing their forces from Antwerp.

From the battle front via Paris, Oct. 7.—German cavalry made its reappearance on the battle front in large numbers. The allies extended front has met with vigorous counter attacks on the part of the Germans. The allies have been forced back short distances at some points on their left. The east wing was the scene of severe combats.

Paris, 7.—The Germans retreat continues along the frontier of East Prussia. The Germans have been forced to give up their fortified positions between Wierzbole and Lyck.

London, Oct. 7—The battles with the Russians, who entered Hungary have not been definitely concluded, but the Russians have been repulsed at a point to the northwest of Muramoroszige and at Tarozkocz. German troops participated in the fighting. Between Polona and Aknos the Russians attempted to reak through the allied German and Austrian lines, but were forced to retreat.

Berlin, Oct. 7.—Fort Camp des Romaine, on the river Meuse near St. Mihiel, has been taken by the Germans. Five French officers an more than 500 men were made prisoners. The remainder of the French force perished in the ruins of the casecents. The Russians were completely defeated near Suwalki and Augustowo, on the East Prussian frontier. The Germans made 3,000 prisoners and captured 18 cannon and many machine guns. The situation is most hopeful for the Germans everywhere.

The members of St. Mary's Protestant Episcopal church will hold a reception Friday evening, October 9, 1914 in the Sunday school room at 8 o'clock p. m. to welcome the new rector, Rev. John Lyons. All Episcopalians are cordially invited. 81-t2FP

MR. TAXPAYER:--

IS THIS GREAT COST OF THE LIQUOR TRAFFIC TO THE COUNTY AND YOU PLEASING TO YOU?

To say nothing about the great moral wrong which this terrible traffic inflicts upon the men, women and children of our county, thousands of whom are unsuspecting and unprotected foreigners, to say nothing of the course which is fostered on future generations.

THIS VAST EXPENDITURE AND WASTE OUGHT TO MOVE YOU.

WHAT DO YOU INTEND TO DO ABOUT IT?

DO YOU INTEND TO LIE DOWN AND DO NOTHING?

B E W A R E—If you do not help to make this matter better, you will see it getting worse.

The liquor dealers and their friends are not asleep. They have picked the men they want put into office. They are working day and night to secure their elections. They are spending hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Are you helping them by your following and your vote or your indifference?

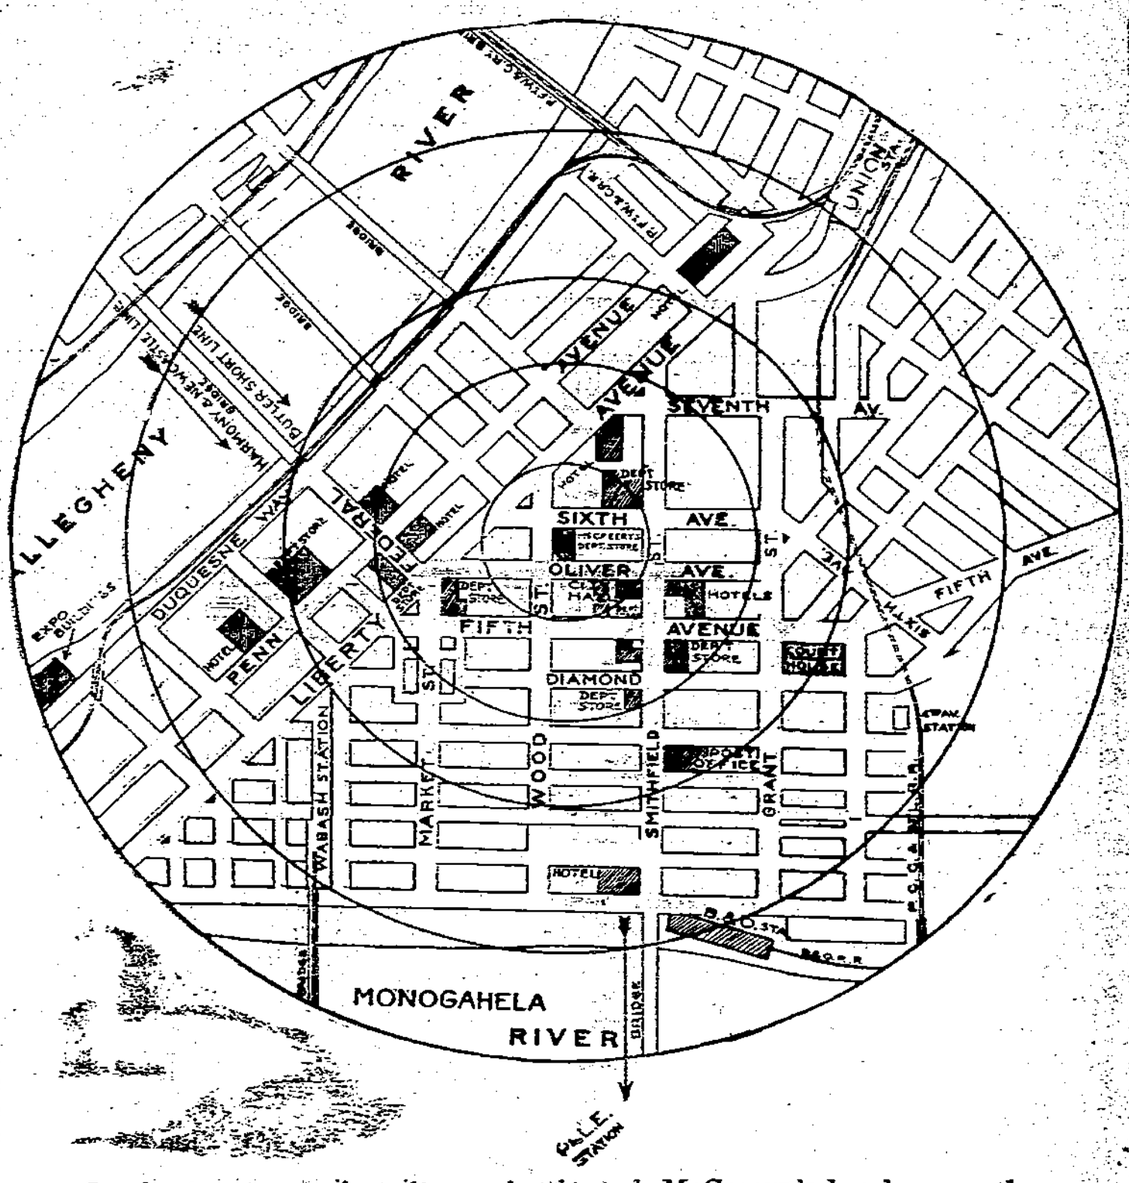
McCreery and Company

The Center of Pittsburgh's Retail Shopping District



In the ten years since it was instituted, McCreery's has become the center of Pittsburgh's retail shopping district. In that time no department store of importance has opened or moved outside a radius of 200 feet from this store, which was the pioneer in its location.

Its central position is typical of the interest focussed in McCreery's by the integrity and courtesy of its relations with the public.

When you are in Pittsburgh, visit McCreery's, the store whose refinement of service, merchandise and appearance correctly define its attitude toward its patrons.

From McCreery's, it is a short distance to every other point of interest; to the stations, hotels and theaters.
